Forest Service Continues to Monitor Fire

Heber City, Utah, July 22, 2010 – Uinta-Wasatch-Cache National Forest fire personnel continue to monitor a 20-acre fire burning in a remote area south of Strawberry Reservoir. The lightning-caused fire was discovered on July 19, 2010 and is being managed to improve wildlife habitat and reduce hazardous fuels.

A burn-out operation was successfully completed yesterday afternoon in a dense stand of dead and downed timber. Fire crews will continue to monitor the fire until it has burned out. Smoke may be visible for several weeks.

There are no closures in effect for this area.
